“A strong economy needs to encourage entrepreneurs to create and grow their businesses. It is great to see the Global Entrepreneurship Congress, a showcase of entrepreneurial talent, in Liverpool.”

Sir Richard Branson, founder of Virgin Group, at GEC 2012 in Liverpool

“The most critical thing we can deliver to entrepreneurs is not money—it is our time. It's mentorship. It's finding any way you can to donate some of your time to aspiring entrepreneurs to help them.”

ABOUT GEC 2015

The Global Entrepreneurship Congress (GEC) is an inter-disciplinary gathering of startup champions from around the world—where entrepreneurs, investors, researchers, thought leaders and policymakers work together to help bring ideas to life, drive economic growth and expand human welfare.

The 2015 Congress takes place from March 16 – 19, 2015, in Milan, Italy with core sessions taking place at MiCo - Milano Congressi, and parallel events held throughout the city.

Over the past five years, the Congress has contributed to the expansion of a global entrepreneurial ecosystem, connecting experts and entrepreneurs across borders and sectors to unleash their ideas and transform innovation into reality. Milan promises to build on the massive momentum generated earlier this year in Moscow with thousands of delegates, 290 speakers and 87 sessions throughout the week of GEC 2014

(<http://youtu.be/WYPrTx4R8BU>).

The Global Entrepreneurship Congress:

- Provides a platform for policymakers and researchers to exchange ideas and approaches on how to strengthen entrepreneurial ecosystems through policies and initiatives favorable to new firm formation.
- Enhances the networks of startups and helps entrepreneurs see how collaborative communities in cities around the world can help them in their efforts to launch and scale.
- Improves global collaboration and expands awareness of both top-down and bottom-up national efforts to legitimize entrepreneurs and engage their citizens in entrepreneurial activity.
- Increases global public recognition of entrepreneurs for the role they play in creating jobs, building economies and coming up with innovative solutions that make the world a better place.

In Milan, thinkers, doers and leaders from diverse economies around the world will focus on how both policymakers and startup communities can better understand each other and work together to promote an environment more conducive to startups and the growth of young firms. The Congress will focus on awareness and celebration, experiential education, startup cities, financing growth, smart top-down government policies and strategies for scaling up.

In Milan, you will be able to:

- Gain valuable insight from leaders in the field on the key elements of ecosystems that encourage entrepreneurial growth and are conducive to innovation.
- Meet and network with delegates from over 150 countries.
- Learn the keys to starting and growing firms from successful entrepreneurs and the incubators, support programs & investors who support them.
- Participate in a wide array of parallel events on everything from crowdfunding and co-founder dating to angel investing and public policies to promote entrepreneurial growth.
- Brainstorm about building on successes, overcoming individual challenges, and strengthening inter-disciplinary collaborative efforts for the future.
- Receive guidance on various critical capacity-building skills, from building awareness to deepening and widening national campaigns by catalyzing and leveraging partnerships
- Understand the vibrant Russian entrepreneurial ecosystem and be present for announcements about next generation efforts to support new and young high growth firms in the future.

The 2015 Congress is hosted by the Global Entrepreneurship Network (GEN), the META Group, and the Kauffman Foundation, with support from Italy's Ministry of Economic Development, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Ministry of University and Research. The Congress is also supported by an assortment of strategic partners from 150 countries.

Presented by the Center for International Private Enterprise (CIPE)

Entrepreneurship is widely embraced as a catalyst for the development of emerging markets. In challenging markets, a few entrepreneurs manage to scale their businesses against the odds while many more are limited in their aspirations or opportunities. In particular, social norms and ecosystem gaps often mitigate against entrepreneurship among women, youth, or citizens of smaller cities, even though entrepreneurial talent undoubtedly exists in these populations. What can we learn from the experiences of entrepreneurs who have succeeded in surprising places? How can we broaden the pool of entrepreneurial talent—and the supporting ecosystems—to encourage inclusiveness with impact?

This panel will feature accomplished speakers who know what it takes to build a business in frontier markets and who understand the potential of entrepreneurs who may not fit the traditional profile of business leaders in their communities.

TUESDAY MARCH 17 2015:

- Entrepreneurship strategies for youth unemployment: inclusive & sustainable solutions
Presented by UNIDO

Globally, youth (aged 15-24 years) represent 17 % of the world's population and over 40 % of its unemployed, leaving millions economically and socially excluded. The public sector is in no position to respond to the job market needs, while it's demonstrated that 9 out of 10 jobs are created by the private sector, mostly by SMEs. It is therefore imperative to increase investments in entrepreneurship development. This event will offer panel discussion which will review the following critical factors:

- Create and enabling a policy dialogue among relevant stakeholders (Government, private Sector, CSO, associations) that would favor reforms and policies to promote entrepreneurship development (UNCTAD)
- Promote productive and decent jobs creation by MSMEs and the private sector at large for a more inclusive, sustainable and equitable private sector development (ILO)
- An ecosystem that promote entrepreneurship development (G20 Youth Entrepreneurship Alliance)
- Access to adequate financial resources for [young] entrepreneurs: presenting a toolkit for governments and financial institutions (UNIDO)

- EMPRETEC Summit II
Presented by UNCTAD

Empretec (the Spanish acronym for emprendedores –entrepreneurs– and tecnología –technology–) is a flagship capacity-building programme of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) that aims at fostering skills and competencies of successful entrepreneurs. Since its inception in 1988 it trained more than 350 000 “empretecós” around the world in more than 35 countries. Empretec is recognized for its high impact on entrepreneurship development, efficiency and growth of participating SMEs. The objective of the Global Empretec Summit is to explore business networking opportunities for Empretec directors and Empretec graduates visiting Milan as GEC participants in order to facilitate b2b cross border linkages among them and with other entrepreneurs. Join us at the second edition of the Global Empretec Summit to learn more about the programme and how you can benefit from it in your country.

WHAT IS GLOBAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP WEEK AND HOW IS IT RELATED TO THE CONGRESS?

Global Entrepreneurship Week is the world's largest celebration of the innovators and job creators who launch startups that bring ideas to life, drive economic growth and expand human welfare. During one week each November, GEW inspires millions of people in more than 150 countries through local, national and global activities that connect participants to potential collaborators, mentors and even investors—introducing them to new possibilities and exciting opportunities. The Global Entrepreneurship Congress started in 2009 as a gathering of the leaders from each national GEW campaign and while it continues to evolve, the GEW Annual Meeting is still at the core of the Congress.

HISTORY

It all began with Global Entrepreneurship Week (GEW). GEW is the world's largest celebration of the innovators and job creators who launch startups that bring ideas to life, drive economic growth and expand human welfare. During one week each November, GEW inspires people everywhere through local, national and global activities designed to help them explore their potential as self-starters and innovators. These activities, from large-scale competitions and events to intimate networking gatherings, connect participants to potential collaborators, mentors and even investors—introducing them to new possibilities and exciting opportunities. Since it began in 2008, GEW has expanded to more than 150 countries—empowering millions of people through more than 100,000 activities. Powered by the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation, the initiative is supported by dozens of world leaders and a growing network of partner organizations. For more information, visit www.gew.co.

Thanks in part to GEW, an entrepreneurial ecosystem has started to take shape around the world, connecting people across borders to unleash their ideas and transform innovation into reality—in turn growing economies and expanding human welfare. To support the burgeoning initiative, the Kauffman Foundation brought together the host organizations from nearly 60 nations to create the first ever Global Entrepreneurship Congress in March 2009 at its headquarters in Kansas City.

It was just the beginning. One year later, the Congress convened in Dubai with GEW's entrepreneurship champions from more than 90 countries, but it also had an all-star lineup of speakers including then Prime Minister H.E. Nika Gilauri of Georgia and a number of accomplished entrepreneurs and CEOs. The profile of the Congress began to grow and countries began to compete over the right to host the event.

Shanghai was keen to show the world that it too was building a thriving entrepreneurial ecosystem, and in March 2011 it hosted the third Global Entrepreneurship Congress. GEW hosts from 100 countries were joined by more than 1,000 participants from across China for the extravagant opening session of the Congress. The importance of the event was evident through the participation of a number of Chinese government officials, led by Yan Junqi, vice chairwoman of the standing committee of the National People's Congress of China, as well as Wan Gang, the country's Minister for Science and Technology and a number of other government representatives from the federal and local levels. Perhaps a bit more surprising was the presence of a number of China's wealthier entrepreneurs and angel investors who had been leading the way toward new economic growth. At the end of the opening session, Jonathan Ortman, chair of the GEC, announced that Liverpool was selected to be the host city for 2012—and the evolution continued.

Richard Branson, famous for his Virgin brand empire, inspired delegates from 120 countries among a crowd of thousands. Along with other British titans of industry, Branson answered questions and shared insights based on years of experience. But as bright as the star power was in Liverpool, perhaps a more important shift began to occur—the international delegates were no longer populated solely by GEW hosts. The Congress began to attract diverse delegations from government ministries, university researchers, the media and more.

In a very short period of time, the Global Entrepreneurship Congress has evolved into the premier interdisciplinary gathering of startup champions from around the world—where entrepreneurs, investors, researchers, thought leaders and policymakers work together to bring ideas to life, drive economic growth and expand human welfare.

What will 2015 bring for the Global Entrepreneurship Congress? Join us in Milan and find out.

META Group

Global Entrepreneurship Network

The Global Entrepreneurship Network (GEN) is a platform of programs and initiatives to help people across the globe unleash their ideas and turn them into promising new ventures—creating jobs, unearthing innovations for society and strengthening economic stability around the world. Ranging from efforts to inspire and educate nascent entrepreneurs to advancing research, GEN is building one global startup community and ecosystem. Starting as a grassroots movement anchored in established economies with stable political systems, GEN has matured into a year-round global platform blind to types of economies, cultures and value systems. This globalization of entrepreneurship has brought an explosion of programs, startup communities and investments into a new field where there is a paucity of data around what works and what does not in supporting nascent entrepreneurs and new firms preparing to scale. Traditional business, education and government leaders are eager champions that can benefit from tools to help them effectively direct attention and funds to areas that have the greatest impact on future economic growth. GEN is a compass to help address these developments by identifying effective initiatives that positively impact whole societies and interventions that target the most critical areas for entrepreneurial ecosystems around the world. For more information, visit www.weareGEN.co

Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation

The Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation is a private nonpartisan foundation that works to harness the power of entrepreneurship and innovation to grow economies and improve human welfare.
